DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 7 and 9 are objected to because of the following informalities: In claim 7, the amended subject matter fails to have the proper spacing between it and the subject matter already present (words appear to run on); In claim 9, the claim is dependent upon rejected claim 8. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sandin in view of Card.

Sandin discloses a filter press assembly for separating coffee grounds from an infused liquid in a disposable, nestable cup, the cup having a cross-section that varies, the assembly including a plunger for use in the cup.

There is disclosed in Card a filtering device, comprising: a vessel 11 having an opening 13 at a proximal end and a closed distal end 12, wherein the interior of the vessel has a cross-section with a dimension and the dimension varies with longitudinal distance from the opening such that the vessel has a plurality of dimensions; a compressible filter assembly 15, comprising a compressible filter element 17 and a compressible support element 20 mounted over the compressible filter element and configured to maintain contact with the interior of the vessel for each of the plurality of dimensions; and a plunger element 16 configured for pushing the compressible filter assembly through the vessel.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to substitute the plunger assembly of Sandin with that taught in Card, in order to ensure a tight fitting of the plunger within the cup during use over the various cross-sections.

In regards to the percentage of change in the pluralities of dimensions, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the vessel dimensions, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. Arriving at applicant's claimed percentage of change would require modifying the size of the vessel and not the overall invention itself. Such a modification is not seen as patentably distinguishing over the prior art.

In regards to the use of the device for separating infusion material from an infused liquid, such is intended use only and provides no structural limitations to the claims. It is apparent that the device of Card could perform such a function. In regards to the vessel being a beverage cup, it is apparent that the vessel of Card could be used for beverages.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sandin in view of Card as applied to claim 7 above, and further in view of Levinson.

Art Unit: 1761

Levinson discloses the use of a filter assembly wherein a paper filter is supported between two foam rings 14, 15.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the plunger of Sandin, as modified by Card and provide a paper filter and foam ring arrangement as disclosed in Levinson, in order to provide an alternative material for the plunger.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sandin in view of Card as applied to claim 7 above, and further in view of Monnet.

Monnet discloses the use of a lid having an aperture for the passage of a plunger element which is attached to a filter membrane 5.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to provide the cup of Sandin, as modified by Card, with the lid disclosed in Monnet, in order to prevent liquid from spilling from the vessel.
